Remembering the Four Chaplains by Rabbi Jack Dermer

Last month, I was honored to participate and deliver the closing benediction at a deeply meaningful gathering with fellow clergy, chaplains, and veterans with the American Legion. For those who are not familiar with the American Legion, they are the largest national organization doing the truly holy work of advocating for veterans and their families in all of their many needs. It is an honor for me to support them however I can, and I urge others to learn more.

This particular gathering on that Sunday was a remembrance for something that many should be interested to learn more about: "The Four Chaplains." "Who were the four chaplains?", you ask. Also known as the Immortal Chaplains or the Dorchester Chaplains, these four heroes were religious leaders trained in offering comfort to soldiers during the most difficult moments of war. On February 3rd of 1943, the four chaplains were called to serve G-d and country in ways that most of us could not even imagine. The US Dorchester, carrying 904 American troops was hit on that fateful and horrific day by a Nazi Torpedo. In the chaos, the four chaplains calmly and heroically directed soldiers to lifeboats, comforted the frightened, and offered prayers. When life jackets ran out, the four chaplains removed their own and gave them to soldiers, saving four additional lives. As the ship was

Will the Real Month of Adar Please Stand Up, by Cantor Scott Sokol

The writing of this newsletter article finds me still in the midst of the period of Shloshim for my mother of blessed memory, Carol Kay Sokol. That fact, along with an interesting feature of the Jewish calendar, has created an opportunity to write a column about the month of Adar.

Most Jewish years have one month of Adar. But seven times every nineteen years (I know, a strange fraction) we find ourselves in a Jewish leap year and during such time the calendar expands to include two months of Adar, known simply as Adar I and Adar II (or Adar Aleph and Adar Bet in Hebrew). This temporal custom is not a random quirk, but a carefully designed feature of the Jewish calendar, whose purpose is to keep our lunar months aligned with the solar year. Without these periodic leap years, the holidays would slowly drift out of their proper seasons, and importantly Passover would no longer fall in the spring.

But what of the holiday that actually falls in Adar, namely Purim? Jewish tradition is clear that in a leap year Purim is celebrated in Adar II, preserving its place close to Pesach. This doesn't cause too much trouble, just a bit more anticipation. One aspect of Jewish practice though is more directly affected by this calendrical oddity, namely marking a yahrtzeit?

Here the tradition is a bit more complex and subject to debate (like all good Jewish topics). One aspect of the question is agreed to by all authorities; specifically, if a loved one passed away during one of the months of Adar in a leap year, the yahrtzeit is observed in that same month in future leap years, namely Adar I or Adar II. However, during a non-leap year, it's less straightforward. Most Ashkenazic authorities rule that the yahrtzeit for someone who passed away in a non-leap year Adar should be observed in Adar I when the leap year occurs. However, other Ashkenazic authorities and all Sephardim hold by the custom to observe the yahrtzeit in Adar II. Personally I prefer this custom in many ways, primarily because it aligns our remembrance with the particular month of Adar in which Purim falls, thereby associating it with joy and Schulem Aleykhem Yidn, this is your friend Reb Yankl, wishing you and your families a GUT PURIM!

I always tell my friends that with all the tsuris we Jews have seen, when it comes a time to have a simkhe, we should all enjoy it. You know, being a Jew, its not all about suffering; being thrown out of one place after another, being killed, losing our parnussas and so-on. We have many reasons to be happy and proud of who we are. We have mishpocha to kvell over, Yom Toyvim to celebrate and a culture that is rich: music, art, books, education...the others should be so lucky!

So, let's talk about Purim. You know, that's when we read the Megillah and make lots of noise when a certain person's name is mentioned, not that I should say it here, heaven forbid! We even eat that person's ear, or as some rabbunim say, his hat – those hamantaschn. Oh, did I tell you? My wonderful wife, she should live to be 120, makes such hamantashn, you can't stop eating them. And, you shouldn't forget, we send to each other gifts, shlach munis, usually things to eat (wu den?) and have maybe a Purim Shpil so we can tell the story in a funny way. It's even a mitzveh that we should drink, and I don't mean apple juice... schnapps! My favorite is Slivovitz, but you can have so many other kinds what you like! Just do me a favor please, if you do drink a L'Chayim or maybe a few L'Chayims, don't drive your car so soon or make important decisions because then maybe you will have some real tsuris like, G-d forbid, an accident or even make a shiddakh with someone you don't want to have in your life; you shouldn't know from it! Pu-pu-pu-

This holiday isn't so bad, nu? It's my favorite; just like Pesach, Tu B'Shvat, Chanuke and all the others. They are all my favorites. Even if so many terrible things happened to us, we came through and, you know, here we are! Shoy'n!

So everyone, let's all come to shul, the wonderful Temple Beth Torah and have a simkhedikh evening with our real Rabbi, Hazn, and all our friends and families!

You should live and be well – Zay gezint alle!

Around the Congregation

Our condolences to the Chodes family on the passing of Mitchell Chodes, son of Leah Chodes, brother and brother-in-law of Scott and Beth, uncle of Max and Andrew.

Recipe from Our Sisterhood: Hamentaschen

Ingredients:

4 eggs, 1 cup oil, 1 1/4 cups sugar, 2 tsp. vanilla
3 tsp. baking powder, 1/2 tsp. salt, 5 1/2 cups flour

Beat eggs. Beat in oil, sugar, vanilla, baking powder and salt. Add flour gradually and mix thoroughly. Add more flour as needed so dough is workable but not sticky. Roll dough out onto a lightly floured board to about a 1/4 inch thickness. Cut out 2-3 inch round circles (a drinking glass works well). Place desired filling in center of each circle. Pinch on 3 sides to form a triangle (the center will be open). Place on a greased cookie sheet. Bake at 375 degrees for 12-15 minutes or until lightly browned.

Importantly, while Adar is classically associated with joy (i.e., “mi-shenichnas Adar marbin b’simcha”), this fact does not cancel mourning obligations. Yahrzeits are observed fully: candles are lit, Kaddish is recited, and memory is honored. Jewish law does not ask us to erase grief, but to hold it alongside life’s celebrations. The doubling of Adar reminds us that Jewish time makes room for complexity, while maintaining sensitivity. Even in months associated with joy, remembrance remains sacred, and even in times of mourning the calendar carries us forward in a positive direction.

May we all experience heightened joy in the month to come.

sinking, survivors saw them linked arm-in-arm on the deck, praying and singing hymns.

The actions of the four chaplains have come to reflect for all who remember them both a selfless heroism and a moment of incredible interfaith unity. Though each from dramatically different backgrounds, the way in which they stood together during the trial of war reminds us all of our common humanity, and our shared values as religious Americans.

As the Jewish representative at this year’s Four Chaplains Memorial, I was proud to stand beside other local faith leaders and affirm the mission and the legacy of the Four Chaplains once more. May the memories of Lt. George L. Fox: Methodist, Lt. Alexander D. Goode: Jewish, Lt. John P. Washington: Roman Catholic, Lt. Clark V. Poling: Dutch Reformed, be for a blessing, and may G-d bless all of the brave men and women who put their lives on the line in defense of our freedoms and our great nation.

Recent Events

Temple Beth Torah Snowbirds Reunion: On Tuesday, January 27, our Temple Beth Torah snowbirds hosted their fourth annual get-together in Florida. The dinner was attended by thirty members from Temple Beth Torah who enjoyed each other, conversation and live music.

Pizza and Parasha Sessions Continue: The most recent Pizza and Parasha session was on Wednesday, January 28, which was led by Rabbi Dermer at Shelter Rock Jewish Center. Participants enjoyed a delicious kosher pizza dinner and meaningful Torah study.

Tu B'Shvat Celebrations: On Thursday, January 29, congregants joined Lauren to make an edible Tu B'Shvat seder plate and fruit tree picture frame. Then, on Sunday, February 1, all were welcome to join our Tu B'Shevat Seder, where we celebrated the Jewish "Earth Day" with singing, learning, drinking wine, and tasting delicious fruits.

Cantor Sokol's New Class Series Begins: Every Tuesday in February, congregants joined Cantor Sokol for an exploration of the themes, structure and melodies of the weekday evening service. Participants became more knowledgeable and even learned to lead the Ma'ariv service.

Celebratory Shabbat Weekend: This year for our annual Super Bowl Shabbat weekend, Rabbi Dermer held an alternative service in the classroom. All were invited to join for meditation, group singing, and deep discussion about the meaning of the Torah in our lives. Then, we joined our friends in the main sanctuary for the sermon and a special Super Bowl themed Kiddush all together.

On Super Bowl Sunday, February 8, participants joined us for our annual World Wide Wrap, when we join together with Conservative Synagogues across the globe to learn about and celebrate the Mitzvah of Tefillin. A light bagel breakfast was provided for those who joined and helped make the Minyan!
